

Starting the day with connection: Supporting children with transitions

From the Circle of Security Classroom Approach

A FREE event brought to you by The Queensland Branch of the Australian Association for Infant Mental Health

This event is for early childhood education professionals who want to further develop their relational pedagogy and help their students have the best possible start to their day. Participants on this three-hour workshop will learn new approaches to help the children in their care feel safe, connected and ready to learn.

The Circle of Security Classroom Approach is a relationship-based model that promotes learning and safety in early childhood education and care settings by strengthening attachment relationships with early care professionals.

The event will be facilitated by Brooke Poulsen, a Clinical Psychologist and Project Consultant with Circle of Security International

When: 12.30pm-3.30pm Saturday 29th March 2025
