

Australian Association for Infant Mental Health (AAIMH) in collaboration with Adelaide University presents:

Join Dr Claudia Gold, a world renowned Paediatrician, for a one hour live-streamed presentation exploring how contemporary developmental science can inform our understanding of parental concerns about neurodiversity and other developmental and emotional differences in young children.

Rather than focusing solely on diagnosis, Dr Gold will present a framework for listening to and understanding parental concerns within the broader context of child development, relationships, and emotional wellbeing.

Expert Panel & Discussion:

The presentation will be followed by an integrated expert panel discussion and audience Q&A where we will reflect on the clinical implications of this developmental approach. The Panel will feature:

Dr Claudia Gold – Developmental-Behavioural Paediatrician

Dr Paul Denborough – Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist

Dr Naomi Rutten – General Practitioner and Psychotherapist

AFTERWARDS JOIN US AFTER FOR A LIGHT NETWORKING LUNCH

When: 10.30am-12.30pm Saturday 31st October 2026

Where: Adelaide Health and Medical Sciences Building, Adelaide University, 4 North Terrace, Adelaide, South Australia

Registration from 10am

REGISTER NOW!!

AAIMH members: $40.00

Non-members: $50.00

Essential for all health professionals supporting children and families, this event will provide practical, contemporary insights into child development that can be applied across a wide range of clinical settings.

Register Here

<http://www.eventbookings/b/event/I-think-my-toddler-has-adhd-with-claudia-gold>